

LESSON OF THE ELECTION.

The defeat of the $40,000 school bond by the voters of School District No. 1, is a matter upon which all good citizens should exchange congratulations. The APPEAL has been commended upon all sides for its timely exposure of the job in the interest of our taxpayers, but the APPEAL deserves no commendation for doing its simple duty by the public. The result has accomplished good in more ways than one. It will teach the ring a lesson which ought to be pretty well digested by this time. They can put up schemes to enrich themselves, but they cannot carry them through with such well known tricksters in the foreground as Tremmer Coffin and Sardis Summerfield as bosses and manipulators. The community wanted a new school house, but when these men began to figure in the matter the public smelt a rat at once and when the Tribune was drilled into line, on a contingent fee, it settled the matter at once. The result of the election is a notice served upon these men to take a back seat, and remain seated. The scheme from its inception was so steeped in trickery that it was finally deemed advisable to send Coffin out of town. They made the mistake of not trotting Summerfield along with him. In the first count the $10,000 appropriation for repairs was beaten twelve votes, but in adding together the special tax vote and the appropriation for repairs not to succeed $10,000 the proposition carried by nearly 200 votes showing that the ground taken all along by the APPEAL was the true voice of the community. It is now in order to remodel the building in accordance with any good feasible plan and have it done as soon as possible.

The APPEAL favors the Curtis plan, but if there are any other better they should be given fair consideration.

LYING PRESS DISPATCHES.

The report of the proceedings of the meeting held in Virginia City Saturday night to emphasize the feelings of the citizens on the silver question telegraphed by the Associated Press agent and printed in the Journal of Sunday morning is entirely different from what the Carson APPEAL and Virginia Chronicle publish. The Associated Press described the meeting as a Democratic affair organized for the purpose of disrupting the Republican party. The local papers say it was an orderly meeting addressed by General R. M. Clarke and others, who confined themselves wholly to the silver question. The resolutions published elsewhere in the Journal were adopted and a Silver League organized, of which many of the most prominent citizens of Storey county are members.

The miner is systematically robbed to enrich the United States Treasury and that robbery is sanctioned by the party which claims to protect every American industry as well as by absolute free traders of the Harter kind. Why should the people of Nevada wink at this outrage and permit themselves to be arrayed in opposing factions by spoilsmen who care nothing for the welfare of the masses if they get the offices? And why should the Associated Press permit its agents to misrepresent the motives of the men who are battling for their rights as American citizens by constitutional methods.—Journal.

THE MONITOR SYSTEM.

It developed in the recent school election that the monitor system is vogue in the Public School of Ormsby.

Scholars are invested with powers something akin to those of the special police, to watch their schoolmates and report breaches of order made by them.

It can result in nothing except to cause school children to grow up as spies and sneaks and evesdroppers. One can easily imagine a boy selected as a monitor who will watch his mates like a lynx and enter up discredits against those for whom he entertains grudges.

It calls forth all the petty meanness of a boys nature and if he is a decent boy prior to his degradation to office, he soon becomes as mean as the best monitor.

The system is repulsive to the better instincts of manly young boys and has been kicked out of every institution in the east where it has been tried.
